WELCOME TO PROVENCE-ALPES-CÔTE D'AZUR!

Provence-Alpes-Côte d’Azur region, France’s top international travel destination after Paris

The Provence-Alpes-Côte d’Azur region boasts the best post-covid resilience out of all French destinations. 2022 was even better than 2019, which was nevertheless a record year in terms of visitor numbers and tourism revenue. Thank you so much for your support!

2023’s foremost international sporting events have put our destination in the spotlight, with Marseille and Nice selected to host 10 Rugby World Cup matches, including 2 quarterfinals in Marseille: in other words, our region will be the stage for over 20% of matches. And as you may or may not know, part of the Paris 2024 Olympic Games competitions will be held here too, with Marseille hosting the Olympic sailing events, and Marseille and Nice receiving several Olympic football tournament games. Also in 2024, Nice will be welcoming the final stage of the Tour de France (outside Paris for the very first time!).

The Provence-Alpes-Côte d’Azur region is upgrading its tourism services to satisfy the demands of tomorrow’s clientele and a green transformation is underway, geared towards more responsible tourism and the preservation of our three destinations: Provence, Southern Alps and Côte d’Azur. We are focusing on the continued development of the tourism sector, while preserving our environment through numerous measures designed to reduce the carbon footprint of tourists and distribute tourist flows more efficiently in space and time.

Designated a French ecological planning pilot area, Provence-Alpes-Côte d’Azur is implementing virtuous practises on all levels. Climate criteria will be applied to every budget from 2023: whatever the file and field of expertise, every euro spent by the Regional Council must contribute to the fight against or adaptation to climate change. There’s even talk of a “100% green budget” – a first in Europe.

Provence-Alpes-Côte d’Azur is already home to over 150 “Green Key” establishments and France’s first carbon-neutral beaches, also proud holders of the “Green Key” label. What’s more, over 1,000 regional establishments have been awarded the “Cyclists Welcome” label, flying the flag of soft mobility. This year, we are also celebrating the 50th anniversary of Ecrins National Park, France’s largest national park situated in our beautiful Southern Alps!

Don’t delay, choose Provence-Alpes-Côte d’Azur for your clients’ business or pleasure trips today!

Welcome to the sunniest and happiest region in France:

one region, multiple discoveries, endless exploration.

THREE DESTINATIONS GEARED TO A MORE RESPONSIBLE TOURISM

1st sustainable region with more than 60 % of the territory on protected area (13 national and regional parks), with 300 days of sunshine a year, world-famed historic towns, authentic hilltop villages and trendy rooftop venues overlooking the azure-blue waters of the Med, Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur is a genuine paradise for variety-seeking travellers. Catering to international guests for over two centuries, Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur is a tourism hotspot, with exceptionally-diverse landscapes and activities. What's more, our destination is currently undergoing some exciting transformations!

1. THE REGION IS UPGRADING ITS TOURISM SERVICES to satisfy the demands of tomorrow's clientele:

► Acclaimed worldwide, Provence's legendary lifestyle never fails to delight. And the region is developing many new and unexpected experiences too, inviting visitors to delve deeper into local traditions and enjoy an exhilarating break combining wine tourism, contemporary art and festivals.

► Now flaunting a year-round events programme and extensive investments in culture and sport, the Côte d'Azur is attracting increasing numbers of international visitors in addition to its traditional summertime jet set devotees : remember that tourism in France was born on the French Riviera / Côte d'Azur 2 centuries ago, and it was during... the winter season!

► With its pure air, wide-ranging ecotourism activities and varied mountain scenery ranging from 500 to 4,000 metres in altitude, the Southern French Alps are rapidly becoming a foremost soft tourism destination.

And it only takes 5 hours maximum to drive from one end of this sunny haven to the other! In winter, you can savour a glass of Provence wine on the coast in the morning and enjoy the snowy slopes in the afternoon. While in summer, you can shower under a wild waterfall at an altitude of 3,000 metres at dawn and party on golden sands in the evening. Everything is possible! This new, global approach to the destinations Provence, Southern French Alps and Côte d'Azur makes it easy for visitors to enjoy multiple travel experiences within a single vacation.

2. A GREEN TRANSFORMATION

is underway to preserve our jewel of international tourism:

This eco-friendly revolution has prompted major investments (€450 million/annum) to preserve the region's stunning environment and avoid the over-tourism phenomenon already experienced by some of our competitors. These investments are dedicated to preserving the authenticity of the landscapes and experiences on offer, guaranteeing a warm welcome by local inhabitants and protecting the specificity of our shops and craftspeople against globalization and standardization, in keeping with our values.

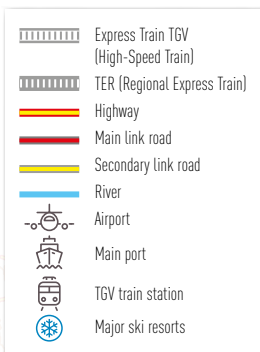

► Reduce the carbon footprint of tourism:

- In 2023, all ferries and in 2025 all cruise ships in the ports of Marseille, Toulon and Nice will be connected to the power grid.
- In the last 2 years, 50 million euros have been dedicated to installing ski resort equipment with a low environmental impact (snowmakers using 40% less energy, river pumping systems eliminated, development of clean, locally-produced electricity sources, etc.).
- 3 millions trees to be planted before 2030.

► Manage the impact of tourism:

- Encourage tourism outside peak periods to create a more balanced and less impactful tourism trade.
- Improve the distribution of tourist flows throughout the territory via the world's first experiment using Waze.
- Develop tourism products that are available all year round (ecotourism, wine tourism, cycling, etc.).
- Focus on visitors that drive the local economy and spur the creation of non-relocatable jobs.

For your travel pleasure, Welcome to Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur, A pioneering world travel destination for over a century, still breaking the waves... Thank you for your loyalty.

5 DAYS / 4 NIGHTS: 430 KM TOUR

With this spiritual tour: let's start with Marseille, land of the first Christians, then visit Les Saintes-Maries-de-la-Mer, where evangelisation in Europe began, Avignon, where the popes lived in the 14th century, the great abbeys of Provence, and Saint-Maximin-la-Sainte-Baume with Mary Magdalene's tomb. It also features the Jewish heritage of Provence and the truly unique history of the Papal Jews with a visit to the oldest synagogue in France, in Carpentras.

YOU WILL APPRECIATE

- ▶ The sanctuary of Notre Dame de la Mer, Saint Sarah's crypt
- ▶ The Saint-Maximin's Basilica
- ▶ The Romanesque Sénanque Abbey
- ▶ The Saint-Mary-Magdalene cave

Arrival at Marseille Provence airport or at the High Speed Trains (TGV).

DAY 1

▶▶ 25 KM

MARSEILLE, LAND OF THE FIRST CHRISTIANS, ECUMENICAL ROUTE

Marseille has always been a place of welcome and refuge, from the arrival of the first Greek sailors who founded the city in 600 BC to current day.

Abbaye Saint-Victor: Founded by Jean Cassien in the 5th century, near the tombs of the martyrs of Marseille. Among them are Saint Victor, who died in the 4th century and lent his name to the abbey. It was a major religious hub at the turn of the 1st millennium and its influence spread throughout Provence. Not to be missed: the crypt and in particular Chapelle Saint-Lazare and its Baroque bas-relief evoking Mary Magdalene's travels in Marseille (between the town of Saintes-Maries-de-la-Mer and the Sainte-Baume hills).

Basilique Notre-Dame de la Garde is a genuine lookout post, standing over the city at a height of almost 150 metres. Built in the 19th century on the 16th-century fortified site of an ancient chapel that had become too small for the city, the basilica is said to protect sailors, local inhabitants and visitors alike. Designed in Roman-Byzantine style (domes, polychrome stones, gold, mosaics), it features a low vaulted church and crypt for contemplation, and a high church - the sanctuary - dedicated to the Virgin Mary (procession on August 15th), displaying numerous votives testifying to popular fervour.

The Temple Protestant on Rue Grignan was built in the 19th century in neoclassical style. An intrinsic part of the city, the temple opens onto the street via a Doric portico topped with a simple pediment.

The Grande Synagogue, referred to for many years as the Grand Temple, was built in 1860 according to drawings by Nathan Salomon. The first stone was laid on July 15th, 1863 and the synagogue was inaugurated on September 22nd, 1864. A genuine showcase for local Judaism, it is also a venue for study and prayer, and hosts community and family events.

The Cathedrale Apostolique Arménienne, dedicated to Holy Translators, was offered to Marseille's Armenian community by a wealthy Belgian donor who relinquished his property rights out of friendship for the Deacon Malakian, the father of director Henri Verneuil. Marseille has always enjoyed a privileged relationship with the Armenian people, who opened the way to the East, and even the Far East, before, during and after the Crusades. The plans for the cathedral were drawn up by architect Aram Tahtadjian, from 1928 to 1931, incorporating the essential features of Armenian churches and, in particular, Etchmiadzin Cathedral, the first Christian basilica erected in the year 303.

Our suggestions:

Lunch: at a restaurant near the old port.

Dinner and night: Notre Dame du Roucas Communauté du Chemin Neuf

DAY 2

LES SAINTES-MARIES-DE-LA-MER SANCTUARY OF NOTRE DAME DE LA MER

The sanctuary of Notre Dame de la Mer is a major site for pilgrimages in May, October and December. The pilgrims arrive here in large numbers all year round. They come to a sanctuary filled with two thousand years of prayer, welcomed by Our Lady of the Sea and by the holy women... During the persecution of Christians in 45 A.D., Mary, the wife of Clopas, and Mary Salome fled Palestine and arrived here, on the shores of Camargue, together with Mary Magdalene, Martha, Lazarus, Maximinus and other disciples. They spent the rest of their lives here. The holy women were the first messengers of the Good News of the Resurrection. They were personal witnesses to the Easter event and to Christ's words, which they meditated and passed on to others. Here, in Camargue, they lit the flame of the Christian faith before it spread all over Gaul and beyond. Visit to the sanctuary of Notre Dame de la Mer, to Saint Sarah's crypt and to the rampart walk with a wonderful view over the village and Camargue for the Ornithological Park of Pont de Gau visit with the site's owner, Frédéric Lamouroux. A 2-hours walk with a glimpse into the private life of the wild animals living in a 60-hectares natural environment.

Visit of the Cavaillon synagogue. In 1307, King Philip the Fair expelled the Jews from France, in the late 15th century, King Charles VIII expelled them from Provence; only the Comtat Venaissin, part of the Papal States, was still open to them. Tolerance was quite relative, however! Many traces of this fascinating history still exist today, including the synagogue of Cavaillon, now a museum. The Cavaillon synagogue, a major historical landmark of the Papal Jews and a masterpiece of 18th century Comtat Venaissin art, is one of the town's most fascinating experiences. It was rebuilt in the 18th century to replace the medieval synagogue, threatened with collapse, and always surprises visitors with the blend of details from Jewish and Provençal culture.

Visit of the Carpentras synagogue. This is the oldest active synagogue in France. Parts of it date from the 14th century, and it celebrated its 650th anniversary in 2017. It bears witness to Judeo-Provençal civilisation. The place of worship itself is in 18th century Baroque style, while the ground floor contains older elements such as ritual baths, 2 bakeries and a room dedicated to Jerusalem.

Visit of the Jewish Cemetery of Carpentras, the oldest in the region, and listed as a Historic Monument. Visit and tasting of Ventoux wines at Château Pesquié: chateaupesquie.com
